THE MISMATCHED MITTENS

Kirby noticed that one of his friends did not have mittens for the cold weather.

"Where are your mittens, Sprout?" asked Kirby.

"I lost one of them, so I don't wear them." Sprout said sadly.

"It's too cold for you to not have mittens Sprout!" Kirby exclaimed.

That evening Kirby went home and started to dig through his box of winter mittens and hats.

He knew that he would surely have something that he could give to his friend Sprout.

Kirby became quite frustrated when he realized that he too was missing a lot of mitten matches.

Where had they all gone?

All of the sudden he had a great idea!

The next day Kirby hopped through the snow wearing two different colored mittens.

In fact, one had stripes and the other had a snowflake pattern.

"Your gloves don't match Kirby!" said Sprout.

"Nope. They don't and I like the way they look." said Kirby.

"You do?" Sprout said curiously.

"I do and look! I brought you a mismatched mitten to go with the one you already have." Kirby handed Sprout a mitten with zigzags.

Sprout dug his one mitten out of his coat and then placed his new zigzag mitten on his other hand.

"Thanks Kirby!" said Sprout. "Now I don't feel so cold or left out."

Kirby smiled at Sprout and said, "That's what friends are for!"
